Director of Professional Development brings greater information capabilities to specialist pensions law firm

Sacker & Partners, the only UK firm of solicitors specialising in pensions law, has appointed Claire Carey as Director of Professional Development.

Claire Carey has been appointed Director of Professional Development with the important and pivotal role of keeping our lawyers and clients informed of legal developments affecting the pensions industry.

In line with our commitment to provide superior research and information services, Claire brings to the firm many years of experience of working within the UK pensions industry as both a practising pensions lawyer and information specialist.

Claire joins us from Baker & McKenzie where she qualified as a solicitor in 1993.

Notes to Editors

- Sackers appears in the top rank of firms practising pensions law in directories such as Legal 500 and Chambers.
- It is the only 100% niche pensions legal firm, having taken a strategic decision in 1990 to focus solely on pension work.
- Since 1996 Sackers has doubled in size in order to meet the needs of existing and new clients.
- The firm, which currently has 40 pensions lawyers (the largest group in the UK) acts on a wide range of pension schemes, including those of more than 20 companies in the FTSE 100.
- Claire Carey is available for interview by arrangement.
- More information about Sackers is available on its website www.sacker-partners.co.uk or by contacting Suzanne Kavanagh on 020 7329 6699.
